In accordance with Rule 8, the Meeting will be opened by the President of the Coordinating Committee of Women Parliamentarians who shall conduct the election of the President of the Meeting. As per Rule 7, the Meeting will be chaired by a woman member of the host Parliament of the 128th Assembly.

Participation and speaking rights

Women members of parliament who are part of their delegation as delegates to the 128th Assembly can take the floor. Those who accompany the delegation in a capacity other than that of delegate can observe the proceedings of the Meeting but cannot take part in them (Rule 3 of the Rules of the Meeting of Women Parliamentarians).

This procedure will be optional in the discussion groups.

At its 29th session (Quebec, 2012), the Coordinating Committee decided to invite women parliamentarians to discuss the following items of the agenda of the 128th Assembly:

- Enforcing the responsibility to protect: The role of parliament in safeguarding civilians' lives (First Standing Committee);

5. Debate on women in politics

women.

Participants will be briefed on progress and setbacks in representation of women in parliament in 2012. The presentations will be followed by a debate.

6. Dialogue session between men and women on violence against women, in particular sexual violence Violence against women is a scourge that spares no country. This human rights violation is one of the most common throughout the world, and clearly attests to the inequality that exists between men and

Many parliaments have decided to make this a political priority. More and more of them are tackling the problem by enacting laws to prevent and abolish the most common forms of violence and to protect and assist victims. The results are very telling. These laws help inter alia to change mentalities and the way violence against women is perceived.

Everywhere, sexual violence is among the most frequent forms of violence inflicted upon women, be it in the public or private sphere. It is estimated that, worldwide, one in five women will become a victim of rape or attempted rape in her lifetime, and this form of violence is magnified in countries prone to conflict.

While almost all countries criminalize rape, penal codes often define sexual violence very narrowly, with many still framing the problem in terms of indecency or immorality, or as a crime against the family or society, rather than a violation of an individual's bodily integrity. Furthermore, in a number of countries, rape committed in the context of an intimate relationship or marriage is not criminalized and certain countries even allow rapists to be exonerated from their crime by marrying their victim.

During this dialogue session, men and women parliamentarians will be able to debate the challenges and strategic directions needed to strengthen legislation and policies aimed at combating violence against women, in particular sexual violence.

7. Report of the discussion group rapporteurs

The rapporteurs of the discussion groups will present their reports. The Meeting will then ask them to prepare, in consultation with the President of the Coordinating Committee and the President of the Meeting, amendments to be presented during the general debate of the First Standing Committee (afternoon of Sunday, 24 March) and the Second Standing Committee (morning of Saturday, 23 March), in accordance with the modalities specified under item 4.

8. Action by the Inter-Parliamentary Union to strengthen the parliamentary dimension of United Nations efforts to promote partnership between men and women

Participants will discuss follow-up of the 57th Session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women and parliaments' contribution to the CEDAW reporting process.

9. Future IPU Assemblies

The Meeting will be informed of gender activities planned for future IPU Assemblies, including the 129th Assembly in Geneva (October 2013).
