

TWELFTH WORKSHOP OF PARLIAMENTARY SCHOLARS AND PARLIAMENTARIANS
25-26 July 2015
Wroxton College, Oxfordshire, UK

PAPERS

Academic research influences on practitioners in legislative development

Robert Nakamura, University of Albany, SUNY, and Malcolm-Russell Einhorn, University of Massachusetts, Boston

Assisting legislatures in developing their capacities: two-decade experience with the Ukrainian legislature

Irina Khmelko and Michael Bonnal, Economics University of Tennessee at Chattanooga

Parliamentary reforms through parliamentary procedure: a lesson-learnt from the Indonesian Parliament

Ratih D. Adiputri, University of Jyväskylä, Finland

Committee assignment in the Spanish Parliament: an informational approach

Beatriz Camacho and Pablo Oñate, University of Valencia

Comparing oversight in Francophone and Westminster parliamentary systems

Louis Imbeau, Laval University, and Rick Staphenurst, McGill University

Cultural adaptation of the Westminster model in Fiji and Samoa

Richard Herr, University of Tasmania

Professionalization of parliaments in Turkey and Hungary: perceptions and performance

Omer Faruk Genckaya, Marmara University, Turkey

Emerging trends and experiences with USAID legislative programming in semi-authoritarian states

Tomas Bridle, USAID

Building legitimacy through dialogue within and beyond parliament in a democratic transition: a case study of Tunisia after the Jasmine Revolution

Jonathan Murphy, Cardiff University and UNDP Tunisia

Supporting legislative development within the political context: legislatures as political actors and participants

David E. Guinn, State University of New York

Does the legislature matter? Executive-legislative relations in the Chinese legislative process

Wenbo Chen, University of Hull

Rule of law or corporate state: bureaucratic interests in China's law-making process

Chien-min Chao, Chinese Culture University, and Chun-Chih Chang, Institute of Political Science at Academia Sinica

Parliament, public engagement and poverty reduction in Bangladesh

Nizam Ahmed, Chittagong University/SOAS, and Zahir Ahmed, Jahangirnagar University/SOAS

Parliament, public engagement and poverty reduction in Ethiopia: opportunities and challenges

Meheret Ayenew, Forum for Social Sciences, Addis Ababa, and SOAS

Parliament, public engagement and poverty reduction in Bangladesh and Ethiopia: management and methodology

Emma Crewe, SOAS, and Ruth Fox, Hansard Society

Creating and implementing a Kenya model of parliamentary development

Robert Nakamura, Heather Senecal and Andrea Wolfe, University of Albany, SUNY

Are Mexican legislators accountable? Transparency, new technologies and accountability in the Mexican national and subnational legislatures

Khemvirg Puente and Issa Luna Pla, National Autonomous University of Mexico

How much of localism is in the national parliament?

Jana Reschová, Charles University Law School, Prague

Cross-over strategies: the virtues of bicameralism in unicameral legislatures

David E. Guinn, State University of New York

Upper chambers in the EU: scrutinising Belgian and German bicameralism

Maria Romaniello, LUISS Center for Parliamentary Studies

Joint parliamentary administration for an asymmetric bicameralism? The challenges posed by the constitutional reform of the Italian Senate

Elena Griglio, Italian Senate, and Nicola Lupo, LUISS University

Enhancing transparency: how does parliament get information from the government, proportionate to the need of MPs?

Michiel Elst, Flemish Parliament

Parliamentary codes of conduct and the accountability of parliamentarians

Ken Coghill, Monash University, Cristina Neesham, Swinburne University, and Abel Kinyondo, University of Dar es Salaam

Why should the job of MPs be defined or delimited?

Susan Hattis Rolef, former researcher, Knesset Research and Information Center

Time in parliaments and parliaments in time

Michael Koss, Ludwig-Maximilians-University

Parliaments' sense of time

Francesca Rosa, University of Foggia

Open or secret: parliamentary rules on secret votes

Francesca Biondi and Irene Pellizzone, University of Milan

Term limits, recall and second ballots: the Constitution (Amendment) Bill 2014

Hamid Ghany, University of the West Indies

The extremes and absurdities of impeachment and impeachment proceedings

Ibraheem Oladipo Muheeb and Emmanuel Remi Aiyede, University of Ibadan, Nigeria

Understanding parliaments as self-organising systems: theoretical challenges and empirical clues

Krzysztof Kasianiuk, Collegium Civitas, Warsaw

Parliamentarians and pressure groups: a matter of transparency and accountability

Pier Luigi Petrillo, University of Rome

Measuring consensus in parliamentary politics

Andrés Santana, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, and Xavier Coller, Universidad Pablo de Olavide

The economic crisis as a stimulus to parliamentary reforms

Emmanuel Sigalas, Czech Institute of International Relations, Prague

Eastminster – state-building in Asia in the aftermath of the British Empire

H. Kumarasingham, University of Cambridge

Westminster model or Westminster muddle? A term in search of meaning

Meg Russell, University College London

What the Public Reading Pilot tells us about Parliament and Engagement

Cristina Leston-Bandeira, University of Hull, and Louise Thompson, University of Surrey

Battles on many fronts: education scrutiny and debate in the UK in the 21st Century

J. David Morgan, Open University

Keeping tabs on the executive: the engagement of the Finnish Eduskunta in foreign affairs

Tapio Raunio, University of Tampere

Explaining the use of parliamentary questions by political parties: beyond electoral incentives

Tom Louwerse, Trinity College, Dublin, Simon Otjes, Groningen University, and Senna Maatoug, Dutch Ministry of Social Affairs and Employment

PMQs and/or OQs? The state of questions and answers and counter-questioning during Prime Minister's Questions in the UK

Mark Shephard, University of Strathclyde

Political outsiders in post-Communist cabinets: careers and accountability

Elena Semenova, Free University Berlin

Climbing the greasy pole: the political recruitment of UK Cabinet ministers, 1945-2015

Michael Rush, University of Exeter